

Readers Theater Newsletter #1!

6-16-16

Welcome to Summer School! I'm so excited to be your child's Readers Theater teacher. This summer we will be working on improving our fluency through reading and performing poems, short stories, and plays. Since I might use food on occasion to make learning fun and motivating, I need to know if your child has any food allergies. Please email me via Asnader@d70schools.org if there are any allergies or foods you would prefer your child not have. As always, my goal is to provide a safe, motivating and fun learning environment this summer!

Every Thursday I will be sending home a newsletter on the concepts/activities covered.

Each class we begin by looking at a few fun riddles on the board. Students love starting class with a few laughs, so I recommend asking them to share the day's riddles with you. In addition to the riddles we will be practicing a weekly tongue twister! By working on these tongue twisters students will improve their fluency while enjoying a few laughs and learning a fun new phrase. The weekly tongue twister will be included in the newsletter for your student to share with you! We started this week by reading a few poems by Shel Silverstein. The students were then divided into small groups and voted on a poem to perform for the class. They picked which lines they would read, made their own props, and rehearsed their performances. On Thursday they then performed these poems for the class. Shel Silverstein is such a funny poet and the students really enjoyed ending the week on a silly note!

As always, you are welcome to contact me with any questions or concerns at Asnader@d70schools.org. May you have a wonderful weekend!!

This Week's Tongue Twister:

He thrusts his fists against the posts and still insists he sees the ghosts!
